

Tecnatom y Enusa entregan un nuevo sistema de inspección de combustible en China

Fuente: WNN

Spanish firms Tecnatom and Enusa have supplied a SICOM-COR irradiated fuel inspection system to the Suzhou Nuclear Power Institute, a subsidiary of China General Nuclear. The equipment enables the measurement of corrosion on peripheral fuel assembly rods, as well as their visual inspection. The system was supplied under a framework cooperation agreement signed in January 2016.